Prophet Clark Arrives With Dire

Predictions of Judgment Day!

WALKED FROM OLD CAROLINA

Three Faithful Staters Are With Him and They Are Footsore and Weary-The Wrath to Come Will Bring Hallstones of Seventy Pounds, Cyclones and Other Dire Things.

An aged, grizzled, weather beaten and poorly clad colored man, giving his name as Robert Clark and his occupation that of a prophet, to-day called at the Fourth precinct station for the purpose of obtaining information and incidentally to rest his aching limbs and weary feet.

In company with Clark were three col ored women who had shared with him the dangers, privations, trials and tribula-tions of a four months' pedestrian journey from Goldsboro, N. C., to this city. The quartette had started the middle of May and just arrived to-day.

To The Times' reporter Mr. Clark stated that he had come to Washington especially to proclaim the approaching dissolution of all things. For twelve years he has traveled through the South, following his avocation of prophet, and has warned thousands of the wrath to come. Late in the spring, when his rheumatism somewhat ababet, the Spirit commanded him to undertake a pilgrimage to Washington and warn the officials of this government and city to prepare for the evil days that

SPREAD WARNINGS BY THE WAY. In pursuance of his divine instructions Mr. Clark set forth, accompanied by the three sisters, who, with the same eye of faith, saw the import of the awful warning the prophet was commissioned to proclaim

A hait was made at each town along the route traveled and Mr Clark cave the inbabitants thereof timely notice of their approaching destruction. In return for this cheerful intelligence, meadry con-tributions of funds were made with which necessary provisions were purchased. Mr. Clark stated that great good was accomplished in Richmond, Rock Mount, and especially Petersburg, among people of all shades and conditions.

As the bearer of evil tidings approached this city, Mr. Clark considered it expedient to take some small precautions against penury, baving been warned in a dream of the vagrancy laws, and hence had prepared the following startling document, which serves the double purpose of a pro-nunciamento and subscription list:

Sergt. He hopes to soon be arrested and sentenced to deportation with-out imprisonment. The Attorney General reinforced by a famous white prophet named Morgan, who is now in Norfolk en route to Washington.

Mr. Morgan travels in a gospel wagon drawn by two gray horses and has some reputation, if not money.

With the assistance of Mr. Morgan Mr. Clark believes they will be able to cause a rattling of the dry bones in this city and that the populace will have ample time and sufficient notification in which to erect bomb-proof cellars, with anti-cycl attachments, as protection against the fall of seventy-pound hailstones.

Smith was charged by Mr. Edward Fane, who was formerly in his em ploy, of libeling lam by the writing of a let ter to Mr. Fmnk Wells, 1411 Pennsyl vania avenue, wherein he stated that Mr. Fane was discharged from his employ on account of dishonorable action while en-loying his confidence. Judge Barrett and Mr. Niles represented the defendant. The letter was in evidence, and the Judge thought it his duty to hold the defendant for the grand jury. On request of Mr. Niles. the judge reserved his judgment until to mornow to allow defendants to fix bond. The counsel for Mr. Smith were prepared with witnesses through whom they hoped to bring serious counter-charges against the plaintiff, but the court would not allow the introduction of the evidence

Big Contracts Lost by a Slight Neglect of Form.

COMPLICATIONS MAY ARISE

Proposals Were Not Accompanied by Collectors' Certificates and Were Rejected-Protest from Other Competitors-School Bids Opened by the Commissioners.

For failing to comply with certain regu-lations Mr. W. W. Winfree to-day lost two contracts. The rule laid down as govern ing the submission of bids, requires each contractor to deposit $100 or as much as may be prescribed with the collector of taxes and obtain a certificate of deposit, which he must inclose with his scaled pro-Upon opening the bids this morning it was discovered that Mr. Winfree had in each case inclosed his individual check instead of the collector's certificate, and Mr. J. M. Dunn, another bidder, immediately filed a written protest against con-tion of either of the bids. The rule is inexorable, and under it the next lowest builders will probably get the contracts, as there are precedents for such

The protesting contractor, Mr. Dunn, is the next lowest bidder in one case, and in the other his proposal is a duplicate of that presented by Mr. George W. Corbett. The filing of Dunn's protest gave rise to another complication. The lowest hidder on the Greenleaf School, Mr. C. R. Monroe, it is alleged, also failed to deposit the cer tificate, and the next lowest, Messrs. Mel ton & Watts, who learned this morning that on was a fatal effect, gave sotice

CONTRARY TO THE REGULATIONS. The Commissioners to-day notified Rev. F. R. Matchett that as the repairs to his building on lot 62, square 546, for which he desired a permit, would be contrary to the building regulations, their approval of the position taken by the building in-
